Parents may want to be part of this special time with their children. So, to let them know about the importance of the upcoming event, allow the children to complete the invitations. This will encourage the children to remember to give the invitations to their parents.

1 -- Print enough of the invitations above for every child to have one. Consider printing them on colorful cardstock that will be more difficult to lose.

2 -- Have the children complete the information for the place, time, and date.

3 -- Pass out the invitations at least 2 weeks ahead of time!!
